Mr. Jewett, of Muskingum, addressed the Convention in favor of the Presidential vote being taken as the basis of Representation. Judge Whitman, of Fairfield, said that County Central Committees had heretofore taken the vote for President as their basis, and he was in fayor of the whole Democracy being represented, and hoped this view would be unanimously adopted by the Convention. The original resolution was then unanimously adopted.

Mr. Cox, of Muskingum, suggested that this appointment with a profound apprecia- Carried. tion of the honor you con er, and be assured that it shall be my carnest purpose, with faithfulness and impartiality, and according to the measures of my ability, to discharge the duties which belong to this place: I am fully sensible, gentlemen, of the delicacy and magnitude of the trust-that its responsibilities upon this, or upon any occasion, are not light; and am equally conscious that to meet them aright, greater powers, and a more enlarged experience than mine, are demanded. But confident, gentlemen, of your generous approval and cordial cooperation in all my efforts in discharge of the duties which devolve upon me as President of this most respectable assembly, I fearlessly assume its responsibilities. And in the name of the great Democratic people of the State-in the name of the great principles of Democracy itself-by the recollection of past success-by the hope of future victory-by the fear of inglorious and disastrous but inevitable defeat, I invoke the spirit of peace and concord upon this assembly-that forbearance, conciliation and harmony may characterize all our deliberations-that the reproach of Hannibal shall not be ours; "that we know how to conquer, but not secure the fruits of the victory."-And finally, that having in this spirit performed the several duties to, which we are here assembled, we may part as brethern, and in the full assurance of the glorious and abiding triumph of the princibles and the cause to which we are bound inseparably by
